Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: Consultation on Brooklands Farm (Proposed) STRONGLY OBJECT
I write as I am totally incensed regarding this development. I moved away from Aylesbury, Bucks after they totally doubled the size of our area, taking away the character of our town. Also leading to much reduced quality of the services to the area. We moved to Whitstable in 2005 and now are sadly finding these same problems, caused by overdeveloping. For example, much more trouble with roads being closed by urgent gas leaks, flooding + water leaks due, in part, by insufficient funding of services to replace ^{old} pipes which are unable to cope with existing users and you now want to add more people which means more stresses on these services.

Don't even mention the inability of getting a Doctors appointment - my husband also had to wait over a year to see a specialist - there are too many people here as it is - don't add more to the equation!

If you keep building on farmland - where are we going to grow the food to feed all these extra people - that's apart from the thousands of immigrants that come over each day on boats!

Another point to note - Kent ~~is~~ has the most amount of motorways + to add to that the expense of keeping them free of holes means that residential roads are full of potholes - if more residents come - more stress on services all around!

Yours faithfully
