Dear Consultations ,

Canterbury is Englands official Holy City thus I write to you to remind you than planning should be considered very carefully.

Unholy settlements can be transferred to Ashford so not to ruin are jeopardise our holy status as a city , people who prefer to live in unholy places , Ashford might be more suitable for unholy designs.

Nature is holy , peganism and green worship along with eco protesting can be considered holy.

Villages nearest Canterbury such as Harbledown is holy as one of the most famous pilgrims villages because of its mention in Chaucers ' Canterbury Tales' thus the ring around Canterbury must be treated with the upmost care.

Kindly

Alexandra Aitken
