I strongly object to Chapter 2, policy C12, Mixed use development to Land North of the University of Kent Campus.

Additional housing may be required, this is not the place to locate it, The Blean forest, the largest ancient woodland in the South east is a nationally important wildlife site. Placing a development this size in the middle would reduce the any cross fertilisation between the disparate parts of woodland, the plan provided showing opportunities for green corridors is so vague it means nothing.

The development would result in noise and light pollution affecting the wildlife in the surrounding woodland including Nightjars and Nightingales.

These proposals conflict with many national and council policies on biodiversity, dark skies etc
