To whom it may concern,

Regarding the proposed building of 2000 new homes in the Blean area - I would like to object to this in the strongest form possible by this email.

Where I can appreciate new homes are required, the logistics of this project does not make sense on so many levels.

As both parent and grandparent, I regularly visit my family who have lived in the Rough Common area since 1978 and have seen its' roads change from being a quiet rural area to a busy congested 'rat race' where speed limits are ignored and pressure and emissions on the roads are at breaking point.

Adding potentially 2000+ more cars onto our roads would be a complete suffocation.

I would recommend someone pay a visit to Rough Common Road during the morning rush hour and also the evenings, where you will see the overcrowding of this small village.

Another point I wish make is to protect the heritage of the land where this development will be build , and the wildlife that inhibits the area will be destroyed forever

My name is
