Hi,

I am emailing to object to the plans that Canterbury council have of destroying the beautiful Countryside around Whitstable and about the Blean plans plus any others in the minds of greedy developers who do not care about the absolute destruction of nature. We moved here from Medway because it was so unspoilt, the roads weren't congested, you could get an appointment at the Doctors, there wasn't rubbish and general run down scruffy areas and although Canterbury has been terrible for shopping for a long time it was a lot better than Chatham, but not for long because you are selling your souls to the London Councils and so the downward spiral begins, such a shame. We need farmland we need to be able to walk amongst nature. The farmers should sell their fields to individuals for allotments so that people can grow their own produce if they don't want them anymore. Please take a walk on a Summers evening through these areas that you want to concrete over, listen to the birds and try to see more than pound signs in front of your eyes.
