I would like to comment on the following question 'Do you have any comments on the proposed deletion of land north of the University of Kent (Policy C12)?'

I completely agree with the deletion of the site (C12) from the local plan. There are many reasons for my agreement including:

The loss of The Blean ancient woodland. I feel it is important to protect ancient woodland for future generations.

The loss of habitat for wildlife.

The loss of good, productive farmland that is very much needed to contribute to food sustainability and the reduction of transportation pollution.

The unnecessary cost of demolishing Blean primary school and the construction of a new school.

The impact that thousands of cars would have on the surrounding roads.

The impact of thousands of houses on services such as water and sewage.

There is a lot of cynicism with regard to local councils and decision making. The deletion of C12 from the local plan illustrates that the consultation process does work and that councils are listening to people.

Thank you.
