I am very relieved and grateful for the proposed deletion of land north of the University of Kent (Policy C12), and agree with all the reasons given: the impact on the road network, the destruction of ancient woodland and good-quality farmland, and the sheer wastefulness of demolishing Blean Primary School; not to mention the disastrous effect on the villages of Tyler Hill, Blean and Rough Common and on beautiful old buildings such as St Cosmus and St Damian.

All these objections would still apply with full force were any scheme for a large development on that site to be revived in the future.

Well done to the Council for listening to the environmental concerns of voters and considering the views of those personally affected.
