I am responding to the question "Do you have any comments on the proposed deletion of Land north of the University of Kent (Policy C12)" My name is Margaret Bircumshaw and I have lived at [REDACTED] for the last [REDACTED] years. I fully agree with the deletion of Policy C12 from the local plan on several grounds. The roads around the proposed development are at present inadequate for the volume of traffic and any building programme would require large changes to the existing network, incurring possible compulsory purchase of properties and the enormous expense that would incur as well as the disruption to communities. The local Primary school would be drastically affected with the resultant disruption of the education of our children with all the social, educational, health and emotional problems that would result. The possible cost of demolishing and relocating the buildings is too large to be faced. A very large objection to this proposal is the permanent and incalculable loss of precious ancient aspects of this area -the ancient woodlands, the varied and special wildlife, valuable farmland and the overall beauty of a special place in Kent. Thank you for being prepared to listen read my comments. Yours sincerely, Margaret Bircumshaw.
