Dear Councillors,

I am writing to respond to the question, "do you have any comments on the proposed deletion of land north of the University of Kent (Policy C12)". I agree with the deletion of the Policy C12 from the local plan.

I agree that the original plan would've had even more of an impact on the road network which is already suffering as well as the ancient woodland of The Blean which has provided so much pleasure and respite to the community not only of the area but also from the surrounding areas and further afar. I know first hand how much it's helped my mental health and of those people I work with.

The destruction of Blean Primary School wouldn't be cost effective and it would've also taken away a much needed school from the area albeit temporarily and also put even more pressure on the schools in Canterbury and the surrounding areas which are already bursting at the seams.

Another worry for me would be the huge effect the plan would've had on the already dwindling numbers of wildlife and space dedicated for agricultural purposes which is so needed in this country as more and more we're relying on foreign imports on produce that could easily grow in this country. We live in The Garden of England after all so please let's try to maintain this well-deserved accolade.

I'd like to thank you for having listened to our concerns - you don't know what a relief this is for me, my family and my community. Thank you once again.

Regards

Antonietta Amorati
