

The black line on the map below shows the arbitrary boundary drawn by CCC

The red line represents the natural boundary as defined by the built up form

The Canterbury City Council proposal creates an artificial gap between Westbere and the proposed development shown in pink

The boundary excludes land that plainly relates to the settlement.

The exclusion then creates a supposed “gap”.

That gap is policy-created rather than physically evident.

The separation is artificial

