In the light of the withdrawal of Liverpool's World Heritage Status can I please add to my zz comment on p115

The withdrawal of Liverpool's World Heritage status is significant. Were Canterbury to be thus threatened the economic, never mind the social and reputational, costs would be huge.

Building on the periphery of the historic city with the resultant traffic and congestion problems outlined variously above will threaten our heritage buildings.

Under the comment box at the top of p116 add:

Do not consider extending the built city boundaries on a piecemeal basis dictated by developers offering SHLAA sites. Meet the challenge of more housing by a properly planned new town.

Thank you

regards

Nick
